

One of the lead items on the CBS (NYC news last night was your snow. They did not report a storm so I suppose the fall was not great. But I have often wondered what just a thin, slick film would do to driving in SF. I remember asking Hal Verb and he said it just never happened. Never say "never?" Must have been ^{JAN 5} 1974 something - and great not to have to drive to work in it. We are having what you may remember from youth, ice on the trees. Beautiful except on the evergreens. It makes them droop sadly, and Lil always worries about damage to them. They hang so low I run a 500 foot gauntlet driving in and out. HW 1/5/74
