As you will see by the enclosed, there is as there long has been more than adequate basis....On one of our smoking-chatting sessions during court recesses, after we got to know each other a bit, Waldren said, "Harold, at some point they are going to have to get you." My response was "sufficient unto the day..." I do not expect it, however...Letter to Rose does not go into all the proofs, only those both new and relevant and not in record. In time the rest. Still tired and trying to clean up so I can get to real work in a.m.
