FBI Knew Oswald Was After Kennedy!

The moment Lee Harvey Oswald was arrested and identified after the shooting of President John F. Kennedy in Dallas, TX., on November 22, 1963, the FBI knew he was the killer, even before they had questioned him.

The Cuban Connection

Super spy Frank Sturgis, a former CIA agent in Cuba, told MIDNIGHT GLOBE what he thinks happened during Oswald's visit to Mexico.

"Oswald's movements for five days were unaccounted for. My information is that he was taken by Cuban agents to Yucatan province, the nearest point in Mexico to Cuba, and from there flown secretly to Havana.

"In Havana, Oswald met with Raoul Castro, Fidel Castro's brother, and the assassination was planned. Oswald returned to Mexico by the same route, and then sneaked across the U.S. border.

"FBI documents say they believed Oswald did sneak over the Texas border."
New Facts About The Assassination That Stunned The World

The bullets that Lee Harvey Oswald used to kill President John F. Kennedy in Dallas on Nov. 22, 1961, came from the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA), the U.S. government's own secret spy organization.

That shocking information comes out of the 80,000 pages of heretofore secret documents just released by the FBI on the assassination, and from MIDNIGHT/GLOBE's own panel of experts on the case of all time.

The evidence linking the Central Intelligence Agency with the assassination was mounting. In May, 1977, GLOBE reported that the CIA provided the rifles used to murder the President.

Now, it is possible for the first time to tell who loaded those deadly weapons.

The stunned story also implicates the most honored and prestigious of all this nation's fighting forces — the U.S. Marine Corps.

It was the Marine Corps that put those fatal bullets into the ruthless hands of the CIA.

As do all of its nefarious tools, the 6.5 millimeter bullet came to the CIA in a roundabout way.

That's the way the agency operates. Equipment is shipped to the CIA, generally, in bulk, and isolated, without any direct involvement in the purchase. The marine who fed the CIA its ammunition was the United States Marine Corps.

To make its point, GLOBE cites a memorandum released by the FBI on the assassination, and from the CIA, was helping throughout Europe.

The released pane!, rr,,at the OSS, Oswald and failed to tell the death bullets, and the CIA, was helping throughout Europe. The released pane!, rr,,at the OSS, Oswald and failed to tell the death bullets, and the CIA, was helping throughout Europe.

Therefore, any of this ammunition which is on the market today is the product of the CIA, was helping throughout Europe.

The Marine Corps appointed the Central Intelligence Agency as its agent.

It was the Marine Corps that put those fatal bullets into the ruthless hands of the CIA.

The bullets were made in 1941 by the Western Cartridge Corp. of East Alton, Ill., which is now part of the Winchester-Western Division of Olin Industries, a corporation with headquarters in Stamford, Conn.

The story of the bullets' origin is told in a letter dated July 14, 1941, from H.J. Gobert, a government sales agent, to a Stewart Gobern of Irving, Texas.

"This letter is to inform you that the U.S. Marine Corps under

The released FBI files show clearly that the Bureau never gave up the belief that Lee Harvey Oswald was not alone in the assassination of President Kennedy. To MIDNIGHT/GLOBE readers, this will come as no surprise.

This newspaper has consistently delved into the mystery and produced revelations of conspiracy — of more than Oswald alone being involved in the overall plot.

In the issue of January 24, 1976, MIDNIGHT/GLOBE told the story of the Cuban contact. It's his pseudonym of that CIA agent who was in Dallas that fatal day to make sure the president died, leaving Oswald to "take the rap" alone.

2.

In the March 1, 1977, issue, we revealed the secret film that showed that shots were fired from ground level, too, six stories beneath the window where Oswald was perched.

3.

And in May, 1977, we revealed the saga of the rifle the CIA bought for the "kill Kennedy" conspiracy.

4.

In this issue, we reveal the link between the CIA and the death bullets, and how the FBI inexplicably lifted its surveillance of Oswald and failed to tell the Secret Service, protecting the president, that he was in the sniper building.
